How to live the way of People Power

By Eugenia Doran-Agostol

Our high school history text

tion of the concept of the way of People Power. In fact, it is a word that is used in a

COMMENTARY

AFTER 24 YEARS, People Power should already be an integral part of our daily lives. Unfortunately, it is not. Why is this so? To answer this question, we need to be clear about what People Power really is.

No security marks on ballots for ARMM

2M election papers useless, says watchdog

By Kristina L. Alano

THE SECURITY OF NEARLY TWO MILLION ballots for voters in the Autonomous Region in Muslim Mindanao (ARMM) may have been compromised after they were printed without the security markings of the National Printing Office (NPO), the Inquirer has learned.

An NPO source confirmed that the ARMM-based ballots for the May 10 general elections had no NPO security features. The autonomous region consists of the provinces of Basilan, Lanao del Sur, Maguindanao, Sulu and Tawi-Tawi.

They had received reports from the Commission on Elections (Comelec) and the NPO that the ballots for the ARMM did not have the government-mandated markings of the NPO.

"The ARMM ballots have no markings," said the NPO source, who asked not to be named because of the sensitivity of his work.

NPA sells campaign permits

Inquirer Southern Luzon

LAGUIGER CITY—COMMUNIST rebels are demanding cash from election candidates in exchange for "protection permits" that will allow them to campaign unmolested, particularly in upland communities, according to the military.

Government forces uncovered a huge extortion permit allegedly issued by New People's Army (NPA) rebels to people who had paid them protection money. Maj. Harold Cabacanan, spokesperson of the 9th Infantry Division of the Philippine Army, told the Inquirer on Saturday.

Scenarios of doom if polls fail

By Amanda Doronila

THE COUNTRY WILL CELEBRATE the 24th anniversary of the EDSA People Power Revolution on May 25 amid threats to the holding of the presidential election on May 10.

Ahead of the 24th anniversary of the EDSA People Power Revolution, Senate President Juan Ponce Enrile raised last week the specter of military intervention in the event of a power vacuum stemming from a failed election.

On Wednesday last week, National Grid Corp. of the Philippines (NGCP) said it was

THE MILITARY CLAIMED A major victory in its war against the Abu Sayyaf yesterday when Marines ambushed the leaders' lair and killed six of them, including a top leader with a $5-million bounty on his head.

"We have confirmed that one of the six bodies belonged to Abu Sayyaf leader Patid as confirmed by other independent civilian sources," Lt. Gen. Ben DelaRosa, the Western Mindanao Command chief, told the Inquirer by phone.

One Marine was killed while three other soldiers were wounded in a fierce two-hour gun battle at Buraung, Zamboanga in Mindanao, the military said.

The US government had a bounty of $5 million on Patid's head. The Philippine government's bounty was $7 million.

"It's a very significant gain in our campaign against terrorism because we all know that Abu Sayyaf is one of their influential leaders," DelaRosa said.

Reef ball has ashes of RP worker in UN

By Timoteo Ordoñez
Inquirer General Luzon

CITY OF SAN FIDELMUNDO—A reef ball in the waters of Mabini town in Batangas and a beach in General Park, New York—that's how Jerome Tap, the 43-year-old UN staff member who died in the Jan. 12 earthquake in Haiti, will be remembered by friends and loved ones.

Yesterday, exactly 41 days after Tap's death, his brother-in-law, Raffy Angeles and three friends dived 40 feet under the sea to place a reef ball among the coral reefs in Mabini.

Reef balls are large concrete structures used primarily to restore aging reefs or to create new reefs.

But this particular reef ball was special—the concrete ball

DRINKING WATER SHORTAGE VERY LIKELY THIS SUMMER

We will have a drinking water shortage in the franchise areas of Manila Water & Maynilad which comprise 96% of the water requirements in Metro Manila.

Why?

FIRST:

DOE Secretary Angelo Reyes, who sits as Vice Chairman of the Power Sector Assets & Liabilities Management Corp. (PSALM), authorized the use of Angat Dam to generate power, despite the absence of flow meters to measure its hourly releases AND despite El Niño.

The Consumer & Oil Price Watch (COPW) commends Manila Water & Maynilad for being proactive as they will, at their expense, install flow meters at the appropriate valves to ensure that first priority of Angat is for drinking water, second – irrigations for farmers, and third – power generation.

When this is in place, the National Water Resources Board (NWRB) must furnish daily reports to Manila Water, Maynilad, and COPW. This technology must be applied to all the dams nationwide to prevent the same condition in Metro Manila from happening. Otherwise, people will suffer from thirst and agricultural lands will dry and crack up from lack of irrigation.

SECOND:

DOE Secretary and PSALM Vice Chairman Angelo Reyes must explain to the people why he did not ensure that power plants are repaired during the rainy season and NOT DURING SUMMER when demand for power is at its peak.

This is a wake up call for Secretary Reyes. He must ensure that the Angat Dam will not be used to generate power effective immediately until the rainy season as the water level in the reservoir has fallen below the rule curve.

These sentiments were expressed by COPW representing Metro Manila residents and likewise verified by officials from Taguig, Taytay, Parañaque, and Bulacan who attended the Stakeholders' Forum held by PSALM.

With respect to the dams especially in VISAYAS and MINDANAO, the greatest concern is IRRIGATION. Therefore, COPW recommends that these dams should only be used for irrigation to ensure that farmers will have water to irrigate their farmlands.

NuvoSonique™

The new generation in ultrasound technology

All the benefits of ultrasound fat elimination, with no harmful side effects!

Targeted Fat Elimination

Conventional ultrasound machines use unfocused waves that destroy not only fat cells but everything around them...

But NuvoSonique™ uses specific waveforms that precisely target ONLY fat cells, breaking them down without damaging surrounding tissues.

Concentrated, Precision Treatment

NuvoSonique™, the latest breakthrough in ultrasound technology, has a unique concept head specially designed to focus ultrasound waves deep beneath the skin...

Zeroing in on lumps of cellulite up to 2cm beneath the surface, NuvoSonique™ collapses fat deposits without bruising. This technique is so precise that it can even remove lumps of fat left over from liposuction.

Safe and Comfortable

Because NuvoSonique™ only targets fat cells, treatments can be carried out more often, with virtually no danger to vital organs and surrounding tissue.

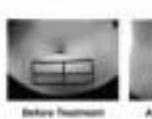

During treatment, the only thing you will feel will be a slight sensation of heat, as focused ultrasound waves break down fat cells. The melted fat then passes through your body's natural elimination processes over the next few days.

Immediate Visible Results

See and feel the difference right after treatment! Results have even been shown to improve further over the following days as your body continues to flush out fat.

NuvoSonique™ is part of the Zunic Slimming and Body Sculpting Method™, helping you achieve your personal slimming goals faster and easier.

'Not a hot spot'

THE CITY OF ALABAMA IS NOT A HOT spot for spot, according to its mayor, Robert Bentley.

Bentley yesterday presented the initiative by the Commission on Elections (COMELEC) of Alabama to its list of election trouble spots. The decision was based on the recommendations of the Alabama National Election (ANES) Regional Election System (RES) Program. Bentley said the COMELEC report was flawed, arguing that Alabama was peaceful and stable.

"I am not a gambling kind, neither am I a drug lord, Alabama is a moral spot because of the United States National Debt, it is not a hot spot," he said. "This is absolutely unfair to our constituents. For a single killing or drug-related episode incident has been reported here within past 30 years."

"We have been enjoying tremendous influx of tourism for the past five years. We might lose our status the number because of this," Bentley said.

He opposed to the COMELEC to remove Alabama from the list and urged the PDP to not be the last to back the action.

Discover Expert Technologies Found Only at St. Luke's

First things first. At St. Luke's Medical Center, we strive to maintain our leadership. We acquire nothing but the latest technology so our expert doctors can provide excellent medical care for our patients. It's no wonder why all these state-of-the-art equipment can only be found in our grounds... a series of firsts in the country that will certainly not be the last.

The First and Only PET/CT Scanner in the Philippines
Technology that's the most important tool in the management of cancer patients - PET/CT provides anatomical and biological data during a single exam allowing accurate tumor detection and localization of head cancers.

The First and Only 3-Tesla MRI in the Country
Technology that's twice as powerful as 1.5-Tesla MRIs - the 3-Tesla MRI captures images with detail, clarity and speed... 3T enough to increase imaging resolution to generate detailed pictures of infection, tumors and vascular abnormalities, among others.

The First and Only 256-Slice CT Scanner in the Land
Technology that's a first in the Philippines for advanced CT imaging - the 256-Slice CT Scanner has four times the detector coverage of a 64-Slice CT. It can measure thicknesses in heart and brain blood vessels no larger than a toothpick's width.

Its rapid scanning speed shows a complete picture of the heart within less than a second, compared to six or eight beats with older CT scanners - ideal for patients who have difficulty holding their breath, such as children and trauma patients.

The Non-Invasive Alternative to a Heart Transplant - ESMR
Technology that gives hope to heart patients with end stage Coronary Artery Disease (CAD) - Extracorporeal Shockwave Myocardial Revascularization (ESMR) is a non-invasive therapy using low energy shockwaves that stimulate growth of new blood vessels. This out-patient procedure is well-tolerated and is safe and feasible.

Kris suffers head injury from bad fall

"This is a great result as far as we know. Right now, she will look okay. She took the fall in a very soft landing and she's in a very good position," he said.

The doctor ordered her to stay in the hospital for a day.

Monday afternoon, Kris agreed to a photo interview and on her way to talk show "The Boss," which she hosts with Bay Miranda and Ruffa Gutierrez.

In a phone interview, Kris said she would be home "within the hour" and after undergoing a final test with her neurologist.

She also mentioned that she would continue with her show. Kris thanked her colleagues, friends and fans who prayed for her recovery.

"You guys, please take care. Love me tonight. Put a ribbon on the flower floor in your front yard and tell," she said.

On Friday at 2 A.M., Kris fell and hit her head after she slipped while taking a shower at the condominium unit in Tuguegarao where she and husband James Yap were. James and Ruby James were resting, according to the same source, who requested anonymity.

As a result of the fall, Kris sustained a laceration on the lower left side of her head.

"James helped her get up. She said she made sure not to step on her head after the incident," Kris' friend added.

"She was already feeling dizzy but she still ran some errands that day and her doctor, whom she had been treating, said she should go to the hospital."

At the hospital, Kris' blood pressure shot up to 180/100, the third said.

On Saturday night, the hospital cancelled the following test arranged from her mother Kevin Gopie.

"Ms. Kris got cerebral and labyrinthine stimulation secondary to fall. She also had high blood pressure. She will be back to work on Wednesday. According to her doctor, she needs minimum rest for one week."

President-elect candidate Leni Robredo "Nene" Aquino III yesterday said his wife Kris was resting and doing well after suffering a fall in his home on Friday.

The source said his wife received a concussion and was staying in the hospital in good condition.

"The doctor found her (Kris) to stay in the hospital," he said in a phone interview.

An accident

"It was a moment, she was taking a bath without any rubber mat on the floor. But she's OK," the source said in a phone interview.

Kris went to the hospital after the completion of looking dizzy and the standard hours of the Liberal Party in the Way 30 presidential election.

Robredo said he already visited his wife on Saturday and reported that Kris was "OK" and "rested."

The Taguig TV host said she gave the candidate input on his media campaign.

"The party has support here in how I could improve my campaign. She also told me about donations she has been getting from supporters of our campaign," he said.

Robredo said Kris, who helped conceptualize his television show, was also adding a lot of things about his presidential run.

NBI, PASG TO FILE CHARGES AGAINST IMPORTER, BROKER

Smuggled vehicles recovered

By JOSEPH L. ARABIA

A JOINT TEAM FROM THE NATIONAL Bureau of Investigation (NBI) and Presidential Anti-Smuggling Group (PASG) has traced five used Korean-made vehicles that were allegedly smuggled out of the Manila International Container Port (MCP) to a car dealer in Marikina City.

Lorenz Edmond Aragon, who headed the team which conducted the operation, said the five smuggling incidents ran which were valued at P1.5 million occurred at the MCP in September.

The shipment, however, disappeared shortly after its arrival but as Facing PASG and NBI Special Operations Group agents found the five vehicles on display at South Track Co., a car dealer, on J. F. Road (Inter-Bangay) Compound, Marikina City.

Aragon said the vehicles were stolen from a used car lot.

South Track Co. secretary Juan Rado, meanwhile, said PASG and NBI agents took all the cars to the shop were seized by the first group for the five Korean-made vehicles.

Aragon said they were preparing to file charges of violations of Executive Order 154 or the Tariff and Customs Code of the Philippines against the shipper of the importer and broker.

He added that they were also investigating some MCP personnel for their possible involvement in the release of the stolen vehicles.

Comelec teams up with MMDA

By PETER MENDOZA

THE COMMISSION ON ELECTIONS (COMELEC) has ordered the Metropolitan Manila Development Authority (MMDA) to stop down illegally posted campaign materials in the city.

"This resolution will further strengthen our operations. Nobody can violate the integrity of where we are doing our work with this resolution," MMDA Chair Oscar Co said in a statement yesterday.

Co said he has been consulted several times by the Commission to help the MMDA and Department of Public Works and Highways (DPWH) with resolving the problem to improve security of the Fair Election Process (FEP) for which limits the display of candidates' propaganda materials in designated campaign areas.

The MMDA was placed in charge of his planning the law in Metro Manila while the DPWH will do the same in the rest of the country.

Investigations, meanwhile, started to ensure proper placement of materials in "regulated" areas of the metropolitan, political parties or candidates involved.

Crop damage from El Niño to exceed P10B

Gov't lists 24 'highly vulnerable' areas

By Rex T. Ochoaño

THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE estimates that farm production losses this year due to the El Niño dry spell may fall in the middle of its earlier forecast of between P8 billion and P20 billion.

Agriculture Undersecretary Joel Realino said estimates that agricultural damage would go beyond P10 billion if the unusually dry spell do not end by next month. However, he said it was "tentative" that farm output losses would reach P20 billion.

"We are still in February and the damage is already way over P2 billion, as it depends on how the weather will develop, but we may go beyond P10 billion. That's alarming, any amount of damage is alarming, but that's realistic on expectations," Realino said.

As of Feb. 15, crop damage due to the El Niño weather phenomenon has more than doubled to P10.6 billion from the previous month's estimate, according to government documents.

For the Feb. 8 estimate, damage to paddy, corn and high value crops such as vegetables and fruits was placed at P1.4 billion.

Early this month, the agriculture agency said that total El Niño conditions might wipe out P8.6 billion worth of agricultural production and across conditions could bring the up to P10.4 billion.

The National Food Authority (NFA) has already warned the public that the country had enough rice stocks for food emergencies.

However, the grain agency also said that it was "ready to import more if necessary" and NFA spokespersons also said.

Importers already are in a rush to stock 2.4 million tons, breaching the record 2.1 million tons in 2008, when imports peaked at 81,000 tons.

Realino said the agriculture department and its attached agencies would use their regular budgets totaling about P12 billion to maintain production losses especially for areas not reaching calamity.

He said the establishment of disaster risk units, the building of irrigation pumps and levees.

A laptop that means business

By Robert P. Gonsky

LEARNING HAS COME out with a new series of affordable business laptops for small to medium-sized businesses (SMBs).

The new ThinkPad Edge laptop series, which comes in 13-inch, 14-inch and 15-inch models, are the first business laptops from Lenovo that run on 64-bit dual-core processors.

The ThinkPad Edge 13-inch model, priced at only $949,000, is already a good performance laptop, featuring a dual-core Intel Core i3 processor and a dedicated ATI Radeon HD5430 graphics card. With these specs, coupled with 7500 ports and 100MB per second, the ThinkPad Edge consistently can do more multimedia functions than a notebook or a thin and light CIOV consumer ultra-thin laptop, and it's also a lot more durable.

In physical looks, the ThinkPad Edge deviates away from the traditional silver/black design ThinkPad is known for.

Steel. With a sleek silver/steel finish, a matte black laptop exterior, the ThinkPad Edge design seems more to popular under the business label.

Relatively thin and light, the laptop features a contemporary split-proof keyboard with "TrackPoint" or floating keys.

It also features a large multi-touch touchpad that provides a comfortable landing pad for the gesture or pointing, scrolling or scrolling.

It doesn't have an optical drive but it does have three USB ports and a card reader.

Physical features that will set the ThinkPad Edge in a business laptop are the red trackball on the outer edge of the keyboard and the mouse click keys on top of the touchpad pad.

Value added. Optimized as a business laptop, the ThinkPad Edge has a lot to offer to its users of business and small applications or users.

When added apps include the ThinkManager Tools, featuring diagnostic tools that keep the PC always running on peak performance. It also features the Active System and Rescue and Recovery to ensure protection of the user's data.

Internet connections, power management, the ThinkPad Edge also has a 15.5-inch screen and a 15.5-inch screen, but the ThinkPad Edge also has a 15.5-inch screen and a 15.5-inch screen.

Beyond ThinkManager, the ThinkPad Edge also has a 15.5-inch screen and a 15.5-inch screen, but the ThinkPad Edge also has a 15.5-inch screen and a 15.5-inch screen.

performed again costs in case of accident. SATA-to-USB adapters, and hard disk drive enclosure that has customers keep their data safe in damaged hard disk drive.

Fit for a tight budget.

Since the ThinkPad Edge runs on an 64-bit processor platform and has a dedicated graphics card that makes screen resolution clear and bright, the laptop very life little for within four hours on average usage for both browsing and working.

If you're playing Back games, watching movie, editing photo, or changing music formats, you will be using a lot more system resources that may quickly drain the battery. Business with light laptop will find the ThinkPad Edge a great alternative to save their people with.

Step right up! Ericsson's eStore is now open

THE APPLICATIONS REVOLUTION in the wireless industry appears to be getting more exciting as Ericsson makes its first step by rolling out its own applications on its own platform.

Officially launched at the start of the Mobile World Congress 2011 in Barcelona last week, eStore is designed for any mobile smartphone.

It is, however, not directly aimed at end-consumers but at operators who wish to use up and offer mobile phone users in applications store.

The eStore has already more than 30,000 applications that are downloadable to any smartphone, Ericsson chief executive said at the Mobile World Congress 2011 in Barcelona last week.

"Our vision makes it possible for the user to access a wide variety of applications from any mobile phone of choice, at the same time, it also provides an opportunity for operators to increase their revenue," Ericsson chief executive said at the Mobile World Congress 2011 in Barcelona last week.

Open to developers.

Under the eStore platform, operators will be able to offer the operator and Ericsson, although Ericsson said its company would be making a small percentage of it.

Ericsson teamed up with Opera Software ASA, which provides the eStore framework for operators and applications across multiple channels and devices.

Ericsson developers can get their applications on the eStore by paying them to the developer also.

This can also be supplied by mobile brands, small operators, enterprises and other content providers.

"We do, eStore is open to all application developers. Operators can also create their own content and applications," Ericsson chief executive said at the Mobile World Congress 2011 in Barcelona last week.

Content for 1,000 handsets

Some of the applications are free while others are not.

Content is available for thousands of handset models, and applications are continuously updated for many of the most popular smartphones in the market.

PUBLIC ART AS IMAGINED by every other person can be every other thing you see installed in a public space: the decorations within the confines of a mall; the huge sculptures that change the facade of a building; the landscape of a park. But what is it imagined by the people behind the Museum Foundation of the Philippines, public art gains new meaning.

For one January every year, art becomes publicly accessible, not only in more distance within a public space, but also through an art fair that requires that all pieces sell below P20,000. Just as we are extended by the people behind Art to the Pub, many of the artists will say below that price.

Here, the public is an acquisition, it's public to most people collecting fine art, receiving it from away too-high prices.

Duemila, Mandarin celebrate Tiger Year with art show

COLLEEN DEKKER AND THE Mandarin Oriental Manila welcome the year of the Blind Tiger with "Sensory Experiences" in celebration of Chinese New Year, Chinese Calendars and Eastern Zodiac.

Featuring 36 pieces installed at the Capatzen Bar and the Clippa Lounge, it is a powerful explosion of light and color.

"The theme is positive, expanding and aggressive—a study process that stimulates everything that comes into its field and pushes forward," says DeKKer.

"Through these art to new dimensions, they all explore the same principles of visual harmony, dynamic energy in their works," says DeKKer.

UST national on-the-spot painting contest slated Feb. 25

THE UNIVERSITY OF SANTO TOMAS (UST) will hold its annual Inter-School On the Spot Painting Competition (OSPC) on Feb. 25. This year's theme is "Magandang Larangan ng Unibersidad ng San Tomas" ("Magandang Larangan ng Unibersidad ng San Tomas").

It is the 10th anniversary of the UST Museum, which organizes the show with the UST Office of Secretary General, says this year's contest wants to celebrate the importance of the UST's role in the Philippine market and the education in today's changing society.

"The theme encourages among the youth a return to the values that the concepts of both Magandang Larangan and UST stand for: the importance of the youth and the role of the youth in the society."

Learning visual art through Purita

IN 1972, THERE erupted a controversy between the Cultural Center of the Philippines, per project of First Lady Imelda Marcos, and several artists.

What the flag was all about I have long since forgotten, but one of those about I remembered for my magazine, the Graphic, was the iconic Purita Balan Lardonea. Founder of the Art Association of the Philippines (AAP), which had been instrumental in the development of Western Art in the country.

So I wrote the story, giving book value. It was published and I forgot all about it, turning other assignments.

And then, on Sept. 27 last year, martial law was imposed upon the country and newspaper and magazine, except the long-owned Daily Express, were published.

The former Ferdinand Marcos had a score to settle with the Graphic, among other media outlets. For its unrelenting, uncensored and articles, we had been highly critical of Marcos and his wife and their corrupt dictatorship. One of Learning visual art . . .

Leodora was looking high and low for me. I immediately recognized her. "Oh, Katana. It's so glad you called," I remember her saying.

I turned out she was doing a history of the AFP and needed someone who could write, who would be less literary and less who, as the good-intentioned poetess, knew "poets to include" about visual art.

She had read working with most art on art, and they had only ended up "inspiring." As for me, she said, she had been impressed by the way I handled the UCC controversy story, focusing on the angry and disorganizing the museum info.

Ties and friendship

Years was one of the children of the distinguished artist Teodoro M. Kalaw, who had been a friend of my grandfather, just Fernando M. Guerrero. Pacific had been a friend of my aunt Carmel Guerrero, Malaga, the lawyer, and uncle Dr. Mario T. Guerrero, who could have been a successful painter but he was pursuing a career in medicine.

In those years the friendship between the Kalaw and Guerrero families, with some members being involved in commerce, industry, and education during the 20th century.

And then I worked on the project. The next few years, I would go to the elegant Kalaw-Leodora residence in Davao City, Mindanao, where during visits was dominated by a large abstract painting by Teodoro M. Kalaw.

Pacific turned over to me all her vibrant, most materials in the subject of art in the Philippines, from the earliest days of the 19th C. to the 1970s to all significant developments of the late 19th.

I took down various notes, focused on her interesting illustration of the major works and personalities of the period, young and old, with some like living Francisco gone to their reward. We interviewed Domingo, Vicente Manansala and others who had left—or were making—their mark on Philippine art.

She interviewed Amador, Malaya, Kaputian, Alarcon, Silvestre, Rodriguez, Florentino Chan, Cesar Legaspi, Anita Maguypay-Rio, Bernabe Zobel, several times, along with the younger generation like Manuel Rodriguez, Lando Salinas, Roberto Chaves, Francisco Linares, David Mollala, Eduardo Castillo, the final results et al.

End result

The book, "The Struggle for Philippine Art," was published in 1975. Four years later, we came out with another volume, "Kalaw: National Artist," but that's another story.

When Pacific passed on in 2005 at the age of 95, we can feel ended for me, for she had been both mentor and friend.

She was not just an art historian and painter (formally trained under the old Escuela de Bellas Artes along with Malaya, Florentino, and Mariano Sison). She was also an art collector with growing critical skills.

Like a true nationalist and daughter of this Teodoro M. Kalaw, she has bequeathed her art collection to the nation. These are now on display at the Ayala Museum in Makati City until May 3. The show is not to be missed by any lover of Philippine visual art.

"ART IS WHEN THE HEART GUIDES THE HAND."

VICTORIO EDADES

Once again, Rockwell breaks away from local design conventions with Edades Tower and Garden Villas. Edades creates the coexistence of a tower containing Garden 2-Lofts jutting out of the Manila landscape, and one garden villa in a playful cluster of 6-level units. There's a picture to house select retail establishments, apart from the exclusive tunnel access where you can enjoy your dining and shopping experience at the Power Plant Mall.

These are just some of Edades' life-enriching features, reflective of his total Artist-Captain's revolutionary aesthetic. It's the latest piece in the Rockwell masterpiece where art inspires and steers the creation of form that is always delightful and never endless.

ROCKWELL

THE INDOOR GARDENS OF EDADES: ANOTHER ROCKWELL FIRST

"GARDENING IS THE ART THAT USES
FLOWERS AND PLANTS AS PAINT, AND THE SOIL AND SKY AS CANVAS."

—ELIZABETH MURRAY

Before MP3 players and cellphones became staples of modern living, a patch of soil and a bag of seeds were all that people needed for sustenance and self-reliance. Other than planting for food, gardening was also an accessible opportunity for creativity and self-expression. A green landscape could reflect a personal sense of style, such as an elegant English garden of roses and herbs, or an exotic and luxuriant plot of tropical varieties.

Planting was a symbol of hope because it required faith in the unseen.

But that idealism seemed to have gone the way of the un-nourished seed with the emergence of mega cities, with vast expanses of business districts, malls and parking lots. The urban dweller now has less space to showcase art and sculpture of the agricultural kind.

For greening, with lawn areas providing ornamental and horticultural options as larger yards. In the two-storey garden villa, free-flowing hedges, colorful climbers and vines on pergolas, arbors and arches, are even possible.

The tower's Garden 2-Lofts have also turned convention on its head. Each 2-Loft spills out to warm sunshine by having a accessible garden deck. The garden itself, probably adorned with a gleaming copper birdbath to draw in bird rows of colorful geminals, makes for a tranquil retreat, unbelievably in Makati.

The gardens of Rockwell's Edades isn't a strike against urbanization, but a way of imagining an increasingly modernized world as functioning and spiritually enriching, for people who want to keep nature close to their beds, though sky-high.

Rockwell laid down in the traditions of art in the past and the growing spirit of environmentalism through its newest residential project, the Edades Tower and Garden Villas. To those who choose to live efficiently in the heart of Makati, and still re-imagine more green in their controlled spaces, Edades is the answer.

It's a new concept in Manila condo living: units where square-meters of space are generously devoted to gardens. The Garden Villas form a landscaped cluster of townhome-like, 6-level units that extend from the main tower. Each unit in the cluster also comes with more opportunities

Pinoys in Berlin: Cannes winner gives 'great' master class

By Rapunzel San Diego Jr.

AFTER VENICE-WINNING Lay Dine in 2009, Cannes Award Director Brillante Mendoza becomes the second Filipino filmmaker to be honored with a retrospective and teaching stint at the world-renowned film school UFFB at the German Film and Television Academy Berlin.

UFFB director, president of the Asian Film Short Berlin Festival, related that the master class consisted of screenings of Mendoza's films at the Arsenal Cinema as well.

The master class and retrospective were held in the German capital early this month.

Round table

"Brillante analyzed the technical and aesthetic aspects, plus the social influence of his films with the students in a round-table forum," Estrate related.

He said the students expressed interest in the production details of Mendoza's films like "Makius," "Mangro Child," "Korlar" and the Cannes winner, "Kinatay."

"They wanted to know more about his camera equipment and how he organized his location shoots," he said.

The students were curious about real time, a story-telling style employed by Mendoza and his acknowledged mentor and frequent collaborator, Armando "Bong" Lao.

"They regarded it as closer to documentary than conventional drama, in terms of technique," Estrate said. "They also seemed to have more about Philippine society, its history, politics, economy, social classes."

Unfamiliar terrain

Estrate noted that Philippine cinema, and Philippine cinema in general, were unfamiliar terrain for the students. "The master class gave them a better understanding of the significance of local history media to cinema in contemporary Philippine realities," he described Mendoza as a "great" teacher.

"He was organized and very familiar with the structure of his subject matter. He was specific and precise with all the terms related to the day-long classes," said Estrate.

At the same time, however, Mendoza was a "flexible" mentor, Estrate added.

"He was able to answer the students' questions. He was heavily aware that the students were limited by their first-world point of view. In that way, he was a wonderful mediator between the two hemispheres," he said and the UFFB, the

Percy Jackson: Dyslexia can't stop this demigod

UPON RUNNING OUT OF options about gods and heroes to relate to his son, Rick Riordan started making up a story about a young protagonist named Percy Jackson who has no interest not only with dyslexia but also the peril of being a demigod caught in the power play among the duties of Mt. Olympus.

As the progenitor of his son, who has dyslexia and attention deficit hyperactivity disorder (ADHD), Riordan was also the one to write "The Lightning Thief," the first in what would become known as the "Percy Jackson and the Olympians" series, and now a 20th Century Fox feature film recently showing at local theaters.

Dyslexia is a learning disability in the specific areas of reading, writing and spelling.

In the series, Riordan is a successful and very handsome struggling writer.

Wrote to advantage

In the beginning, he thinks he just has a bad day with a learning disability," says Logan Lerman, who plays the son. "Then you find out this disability actually can be to his advantage."

One of Hollywood's most glamorous and bankable stars, Case Tatum, plays Riordan's brilliant 15-year-old son, Luke. He is the oldest son of Riordan, who is a writer and a director. He is also the son of Riordan's wife, who is a writer and a director. He is also the son of Riordan's wife, who is a writer and a director.

"I'm kind of a challenge when it comes to being a writer," says Tatum. "I'm kind of a challenge when it comes to being a writer." "I'm kind of a challenge when it comes to being a writer." "I'm kind of a challenge when it comes to being a writer."
